SEMINAR ON EDUCATING HANDICAPPED CHILDREN AT USD MAY 10

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

How do you educate a handicapped child in 5 1/2 hours? The problem of educating the handicapped child will be explored during a seminar presented by the University of San Diego Special Education Department, on May 10 , from 9:00 to 12:30, in the Board Room of DeSales Hall.

The seminar is designed for teachers, student teachers, and administrators concerned with the challenge of zero-rejection, the education of severely and profoundly handicapped children, and the problems of the short school day.

Registration and coffee begins at 8:45, followed by Julia Molloy, speaking on "Who Owns the Dilemma?"

The panel discussion begins at 11:00 featuring Ted Goff, Principal of Greg Rogers School and Lyndia Lewis, from the Revere Development Center.

Admission to the seminar is free.
